Purely Business!
The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give away his "notice" free any more than a merchant can lose over his counter five gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a legitimate business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

The Continued Calls
UPON THE LEDGER for free notices have become so burdensome that we are forced to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Meetings,
excursions, fairs, or other public entertainments where a fee is charged, and for ordinary notices, readmissions of receipt, etc. The Ledger will charge FIVE CENTS a line, and hereafter this will be the invariable rule. This, however.

Does Not Include
notices of Lodge meetings or Church services, which must not exceed ten lines.

Avoidance of Disputes.
Misunderstandings are unpleasant. The rate for business notices in this Ledger is 10 cents a line for the first insertion and 5 cents a line for subsequent insertions. A customer orders a five-line notice inserted in the paper. "I'll tell you when to take it out," he says to the book-keeper. But he forgets all about it. The notice runs for two weeks—10 lines—that bill is $10.00. When he finds it out there is a "due" and a controversy follows, probably by an icy feeling. Now, to obviate this trouble, all notices will be accepted hereafter. Let's have a definite agreement at the outset and the termination will be pleasant all around.

Blue
All matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

TRY IT!

You wouldn't think of going to a person's house unless you were invited to do so; and one's business place is no exception. It is a bad habit to intrude on a person's privacy, and to buy his goods, he invites them to do so. The Ledger is the acknowledged way to do this. Write to the Editor, and everyone can see it.

SAMPLE QUESTION.

The Sort of Foolishness Poked at Applicants For Government Places.

Several years ago a class was examined in this city for appointment under the Civil Service Rules; and it is fair to say that there are not three schoolteachers in Mason county who could have answered properly some of the questions.

One of the bright questions put to an applicant for appointment as Letter Carrier was this—

"A man bought $2.40 worth of stamps, buying twice as many 2 cent and three times as many 3 cent as he did 1 cent stamps. How many of each did he buy?"

Now, this problem is very easily solved by the algebraic process;

But its relevancy to the qualifications of a man for the position of a Letter Carrier may be seen when it is considered that the person who might solve it could not possibly tell where Mayor Cox lives or would not know where to find Chief of Police Orr if he had a letter for him.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of The Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896. WAS TOO GOOD.

The "Sprinkle Dollar" Made in Lewis County in 1840.

QUEER COUNTERFEIT CASE.

Found His Ore in the Lewis County Hills, But the Secret Died With the Old Man.

EVERYWHERE ACCEPTED.

A special from Vanceburg to The Commercial Tribune says the sending of Dan Wyatt McLeese of this county to the penitentiary by the United States District Court, for counterfeiting, has started the tongue of reminiscence to relating particulars of the most noted counterfeiting case known to the penal annals of Northeastern Kentucky, namely, that of Jacob and Nancy Sprinkle, who were indicted jointly at the October term of the Lewis Circuit Court in 1840.

This case attracted sensational interest at the time, as there were thousands of the "Sprinkle Dollars" in circulation, and though known to be counterfeit, nevertheless were received without question or protest in facilitating exchanges through out a broad territory.

A DOLLAR TOO GOOD.

The "Sprinkle Dollar" occupies a unique position in the history of counterfeiting, as it was, perhaps, the only dollar ever minted that was "too good."

The Sprinkle Dollar had a larger proportion of silver in it in relation to its alloy than the dollar that came through Uncle Sam's fingers.

The well known fact that the "Sprinkle Dollar" had a higher bullion value than the genuine dollar possessed helped to retain it unquestioned in the circulation of this and adjoining counties. This fact also was potent in screening Jacob Sprinkle from the legal consequences of his acts. Hundreds openly sympathized with him, and the most exacting for a long while winked at his transgressions.

THOUGHT HE WAS SAFE.

Many people believed that as long as the Sprinkle Dollar contained the same or a greater proportion of silver than did the coin from the Government Mint he was doing no wrongful act either in law or morals. They believed that counterfeiting consisted in deceiving and cheating with a base metal resembling silver, Jacob Sprinkle himself believed for a long while, and was disillusioned only after a Grand Jury had indicted him.

So numerous did these dollars become, finally, that a man when receiving money from another would always examine it to see how much of it consisted of Sprinkle's Dollars. If it should all consist of Sprinkle's money it would only call forth some jocular remark as the receiver pocketed the jingling coin.

WILLING TO HAVE A MILLION.

To show how far the fame of the Sprinkle Dollars spread the following anecdote may suffice:

Major Henry McDowell of this county, in 18'0 took passage on a steamer at Cincinnati for St. Louis. When purchasing his ticket he pulled out the amount of the fare and handed it to the clerk. The clerk examined the money a second; then, with a laugh, exclaimed: "Sprinkle money."

"It's all right, isn't it?" queried the Major.

"Yes, I wish I had a million dollars like 'em!"

On the day the Grand Jury returned indictments against Sprinkle and his wife Judge Walker Reid, who then presided as Judge, pulled a handful of the money from his pocket and said:

"I defy the United States to produce from their Mist Dollars as good as these I hold in my hand!"

THE SPRINKLE HOME.

Sprinkle lived in a cabin on a small tributary of Kinlanconick, five miles South-east of Vanceburg. There he worked month in and month out coining his money, which soon found its way into local commerce.

Now, where did he get the bullion out of which his coins were made? Could the writer answer this question he would reveal a secret that hundreds have toiled to fathom. Hundreds of picks have risen and fallen among the hills of Kinlanconick in a futile endeavor to crack the bull of this secret. That his ore came from some place in the Lewis county hills Sprinkle did not hesitate to confess, but the exact location is a secret that died with him.

He frequently made the statement that he would at some time tell where his treasure was located, but after he was indicted he got angry and vowed that an ungrateful public should never persecute him, and then enjoy the benefits of his discovery.

KEPT HIS SECRET.

When the Sheriff, Larkin Lyles, and a party went out to arrest Sprinkle, after he was indicted, they found that his home consisted of two log cabins, situated a few yards from each other. They searched diligently through each house to discover the dies and other instruments necessary in his work, but found nothing. Riffing about in the open space between the two houses, the ground suddenly gave way and the men dropped into a subterranean chamber ten feet below the surface. There, after removing much debris, the utensils used in the counterfeiting trade were discovered.

Sprinkle and his wife, Nancy, were taken to the county seat, but at once were admitted to bail. They had the sympathy of the Judge and the popular sentiment in their favor was all but universal.

At the next term of the Court, when the case was called, a death certificate from a doctor was offered showing that Sprinkle had gone to his long home. It was untrue, of course. He died in California in 1890, and with him the coveted secret that so many have toiled to fathom.

A dispatch from Hopkinsville says that Reuben Sargent, a Negro, split his wife's head open with an axe because she had his arrested. She will die.

CAPTURED.

The United States Ship Dolphin
Seizes a Large Vessel.

It Is Charged That She Was About to Deliver Arms to Cubans.

The vessel is the Clyde Line steamer Delaware, which was captured by the Dolphin at the mouth of St. John's harbor. A launch was also captured.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A Jacksonville special to the Journal says: A large steamer has been fired upon by the United States ship Dolphin. Officers have been placed on board. It is charged that the Dolphin was believed to intend delivering arms and ammunition to the Cuban insurgents. The seized vessel is the Clyde line steamer Delaware. A large cargo was also seized. The same and owner of launch are unknown. She was lying alongside the Delaware at the time. The belief here is that she was taking arms to the Cuban insurgents. The captain of the steamer Delaware is Ingram, but as yet no one has got his statement. The steamer Delaware came from Boston. The seizure was made at Mayport, at the mouth of the St. John's river. The Dolphin is now bringing in her prize.

Capt. Kemp, a bar pilot, took out the launch, which was bound for St. Augustine. He lay in his boat in the Delaware and was in the launch when the Delaware came to the mouth of the St. John's river and then stood out to sea. The launch did not fire. The Dolphin was in search light on the boats and started in pursuit. Smelling a rat the Dolphin put on steam and was early Thursday morning, about 2 o'clock. The Dolphin then fired on the fleeing vessels with her bow chaser. Both vessels gave up and signaled a surrender.

Prize crews were put aboard the steamer and the launch. The Delaware was left at the bar. It was said Thursday afternoon that nothing suspicious was found on the Delaware. Upon Lieut. Sutherland arriving here he visited the office of U. S. District Attorney Clark, but the nature of his visit could not be ascertained. It is presumed, however, that he was satisfied that the Delaware was not a filibuster, for he reported to the Dolphin about noon, going down on the revenue cutter Colfax.

Boston, Jan. 15.—The steamer Delaware, of the Clyde line, which is reported in a Jacksonville, Fla., dispatch to the New York Evening Globe, to have been fired on and seized at the mouth of the St. John's river on suspicion of being engaged in a filibustering expedition, left on Thursday afternoon bound for Charleston and Jacksonville. She sailed from Charleston Wednesday and that was the last heard of her by the Boston agents until informed of the alleged seizure. Her cargo consisted of ordnance and munitions, and the Clyde Co.'s agents at Charleston and Jacksonville.

Local officials of the company say that the report that the Delaware was a filibustering expedition is news to them and they place no credence in the report.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 15.—A huge paper mill of the Fox Paper Co., located at Crescentville, 15 miles north of Cincinnati, on the Miami railroad, was totally destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock Thursday night. The origin is a mystery. The first fire was a mass of flames that shot upward from the engine room following a local explosion, whereupon Foreman John New was run to the mill. He found four barrels of oil, and at once gave the alarm. The employees made a dash for the mill, but were forced to leave the building on account of the rapid progress of the flames.

The mill was constructed of brick and covered three acres of ground. It was erected about twenty years ago and was used for the manufacture of building and wrapping paper. ## THE CABINET.

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford Spoke of for a Position.

Hon. J. Slat Fasset, Another New Yorker, Is Also Mentioned.

The New England Field Being Searched for Cabinet Members—Senator Lodge's
Name Mentioned in Senate—Favorable Mention of Ex-Gov. Long.

CANTON, O., Jan. 15.—The withdrawal of Mr. Bliss from the list of cabinet possibilities leaves the situation open so far as the choice of a cabinet officer from New York is concerned. Maj. McKinley has not selected a New York republican for his cabinet and there is reason to believe that he is in a hurry to do so. Indeed, the impression is current that one of the last members of the cabinet to be chosen will be representative from the state of New York. Gossip, which is never idle, plays with unwonted vitality about the name of Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of Brooklyn. Gen. Woodford, a New York man Thursday, is a lawyer of wide reputation, a successful and popular speaker on financial topics and a man of rare administrative ability.

The president-elect knows him exceedingly well, and thinks highly of him. Another New York republican, who is discussed somewhat as a cabinet possibility Thursday night is Hon. J. Slat Fasset. If Maj. McKinley has any one in mind from New York, it is believed that he will be a republican. The secretary of state having been selected, Maj. McKinley's next task will probably be that of choosing a member of the treasury, and the chances Thursday night were that this position will not go to New York. New England men are being searched for cabinet possibilities Thursday by the president-elect, who invited Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, to consult with him upon the subject. Senator Lodge said: "I am not a candidate for a cabinet position. I am satisfied to be a senator from Massachusetts. We talked Thursday about ex-Gov. Long and others. Gov. Long was highly extolled by the people of our commonwealth."

Maj. McKinley is considering ex-Gov. Long for his cabinet, and there will be no other person from the state secretary considered. An ICE GORGE.
Great Damage to Property at Portland, Me., Reported.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 15.—The ice gorge which was formed here Wednesday on Grand river is getting worse every minute, the water has risen considerably and great damage is being done to the property of the city. It extends for over two miles and is nearly a solid block of ice. The river has come out of its natural course in several places below the village and it continues to rise for a few hours more the road leading to the depot will be covered with water.

Merchants along the river fear that their property will be flooded. The ice lacks three inches now. There is two feet of water in Sells & Sons' saw mill. Bandford furniture factory and the Creamery are now surrounded with water. When the break comes the towns down the river, more particularly Lyons and Mill, will no doubt suffer from the rush of water. Several says Lyons was almost wiped away by a similar flood, and the river left its banks and ran through the center of the town. The water is already leaving its channels below the city, while Portland is in great danger of being submerged by the back water, the two towns mentioned are facing the peril of being swept away by a roaring flood of ice and water.

The total destruction of the castle is estimated to involve a loss of $100,000.
